"SAINT PATRICK'S DAY," on Saturday Irishmen in our city. In the afternoon the "Saint Patrick's Beneficiary Socioty," to the number of several hundred mpanied by a fine band of music and supplied with banners, flowers and wreaths, paraded through the principal streets. At night Washington Hall was crowded to hear the address on the "Kilkenny Confederation," by Thos. O'Byrne, Esq., of Philadelphia. The address was able, instructive and in-teresting, and was listened to throughout with marked attention.

The recurrence of this anniversary in times of such high excitement among the Irishmen, has rendered its observ-ance particularly pleasant and pointed ance particularly pleasant and pointed to the participants.

The memory of the patron Saint of Ireland is always bright, and the recurrence of the anniversary revives many of the old traditions about him. Almost as many countries arrogate the honor of having been the natal soil of St. Patrick, as made a similar claim with Homer. Scotlass England, France and Wales each Turnish their respective pretensions: but whatever. mountain of Scannisa, in the county of Antrim. Escaping from captivity, and reaching the Continent, he was grdained deacon, priest and bishop, and with the authority of Pope Celestine returned to Ireland to preach the gospel to the the authority of Pope Celestine returned to Ireland to preach the gospel fo the people.

A popular legend, concerning St. Patrick and his miracles, served to point a poet's conceit in these lines; "saint Patrick, as in legends fold. The mening being very cold, In order to assuage the weather, Collected bits of lee together; Then genity breathed upon the pres. When every fragment bland on fire." The greatest of St. Patrick's miracles, however, was that of driving the very ordering the Irish soil forever after, so obnoxious to the serpent race, that they instantianeously die on touching it.—Colgan relates that St. Patrick accomplished this feat by besting a drum which he struck with such power that he knocked a hole in it, thereby endangering the success of the miracle. But an angel appearing, mended the drum, and the patched instrument was long exhibited as a holy relia.

The shammook, or small white clover, is almost universally worn in the han all over Ireland on St. Patrick's day. The popular notion is, that when the Saint was preaching the doctrine of the Trinity to the pagan Irish, he used this plant, bearing three leaves on one stem as an illustration of the great mystery. The general evidences of St. Patrick's burial place indicate that he was buried at Downpatrick and that the remains of St. Columb and St. Iridget, were laid, beside him. It is commonly stated that he died on the seventeenth of March, 405, in the one humdred and twenty-first year of his

ADDITIONAL RESOLUTIONS OF THE WOOL GROWERS.-The chairman of the Committee on Resolutions" of the Wool Growers' State Convention which met in this city on Thursday last, has sent us the following resolutions. They were intended to be submitted to the Convention, but in the hurry of businesses were forgotten:
